JUNE Meeting

Demonstration

Fundamentals of Sharpening featuring Bonnie Klein, Alan Lacer, John Jordan, and B. Johnston. (TRT 1:30:05)

For the demonstration we viewed the last 45 minutes of Sharpening Basics from America Association of Woodturners

We watched the sessions by

Alan Lancer and B. Johnston

The June members watching the sharpening video. It is interesting that for the July demo Scott Taylor chose a tool that he knew was well sharpened to hollow out the coffee scoop.

Demonstration

Scott Taylor demonstrated making a “coffee scoop”

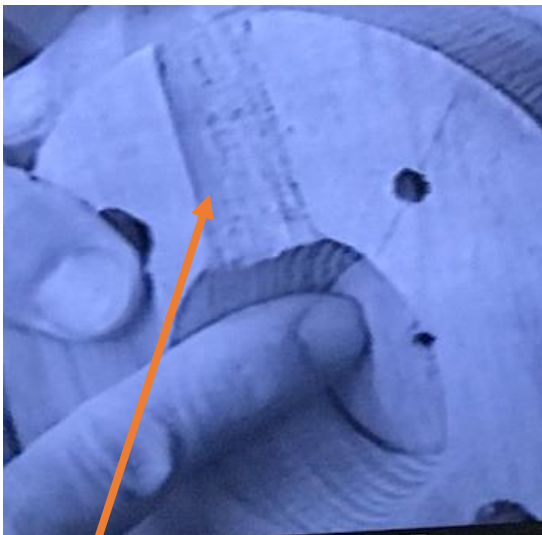

This is the finished product along with the donut clamps that Scott used to produce the scoop

The donut clamp with Scott showing starting hole

Scott had preturned the scoop to start showing the "seat" for the ball to be turned. The top is 1" and the largest diameter is about 2" to allow containing the ball.

Note the slot for the handle.

Placing the pre-turned scoop in the donut chuck.

Drilling hole in ball to start the hollowing process. Tape indicates the maximum depth of the drilling.

Starting the hollowing process. You can not see it here but Michelle Freeze suggested that putting a blue tape "flag" on the handle as it spins around as a safety

Scott hollowing out the ball.

Getting closer to the final shape.

Almost a final depth. Note tape on tool as a marker to keep from going too deep.

Final product – the question was is it the right size for Black Rifle Coffee that Wayne drinks.

Thank you, Scott
